

Lynn Alan Miles

June 15, 1943 – June 8, 2015

Dennis Engbarth, Chen Chu, Lynn Miles, Linda Gail Arrigo – Taiwan Human Rights Workers

Lynn Alan Miles

Taiwan Human Rights Pioneer

June 15, 1943 – June 8, 2015

蔡英文主席
探望心蓮病房
梅心怡
2015.05.16

Lynn Alan Miles

Taiwan Human Rights Pioneer

June 15, 1943
to
June 8, 2015

L to R: Linda Gail Arrigo 艾琳達, Kiyoko Miyake 三宅清子, Chen Chu 陳菊, Lynn Miles 梅心怡. In Taipei, about 1991.

Lynn and 1986 Taiwan Democratic Party

- In 1985 Lynn and his wife Sachiko worked for two weeks with the hunger strike of Linda and the “California gang” in Washington D.C.
- Out of this developed the “Return the Taiwan Democratic Party to Taiwan” movement, with Hsu Hsin-liang and Hsieh Tsung-min leading – Taoyuan airport, November 30, 1986, Lynn lay on tarmac but was carried back to plane...

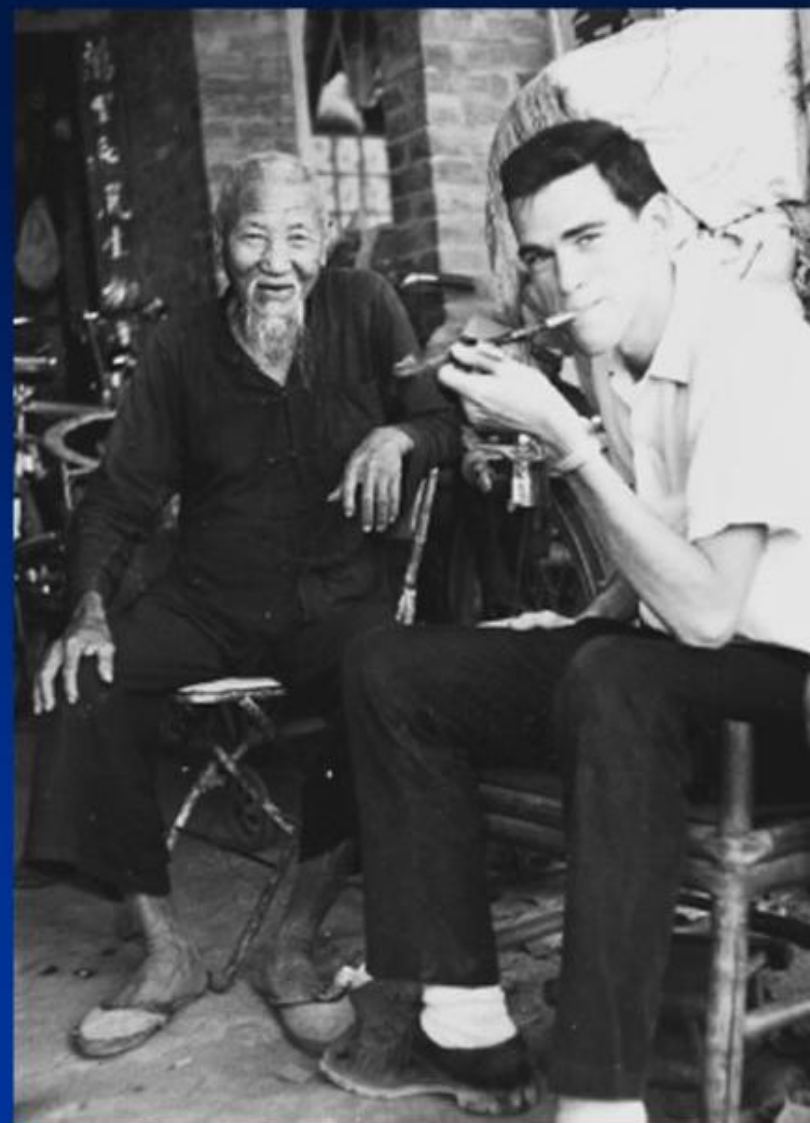

Lynn worked for the DPP

- Lynn was finally allowed to return to Taiwan in 1996, at the invitation of the DPP. He worked in the foreign relations department for nearly two years.
- Lynn also worked for Lu Hsiu-lien in the Presidential Office in about 2004, in preparation for the Democratic Pacific Union. However, he was not happy with the emphasis on current power holders.

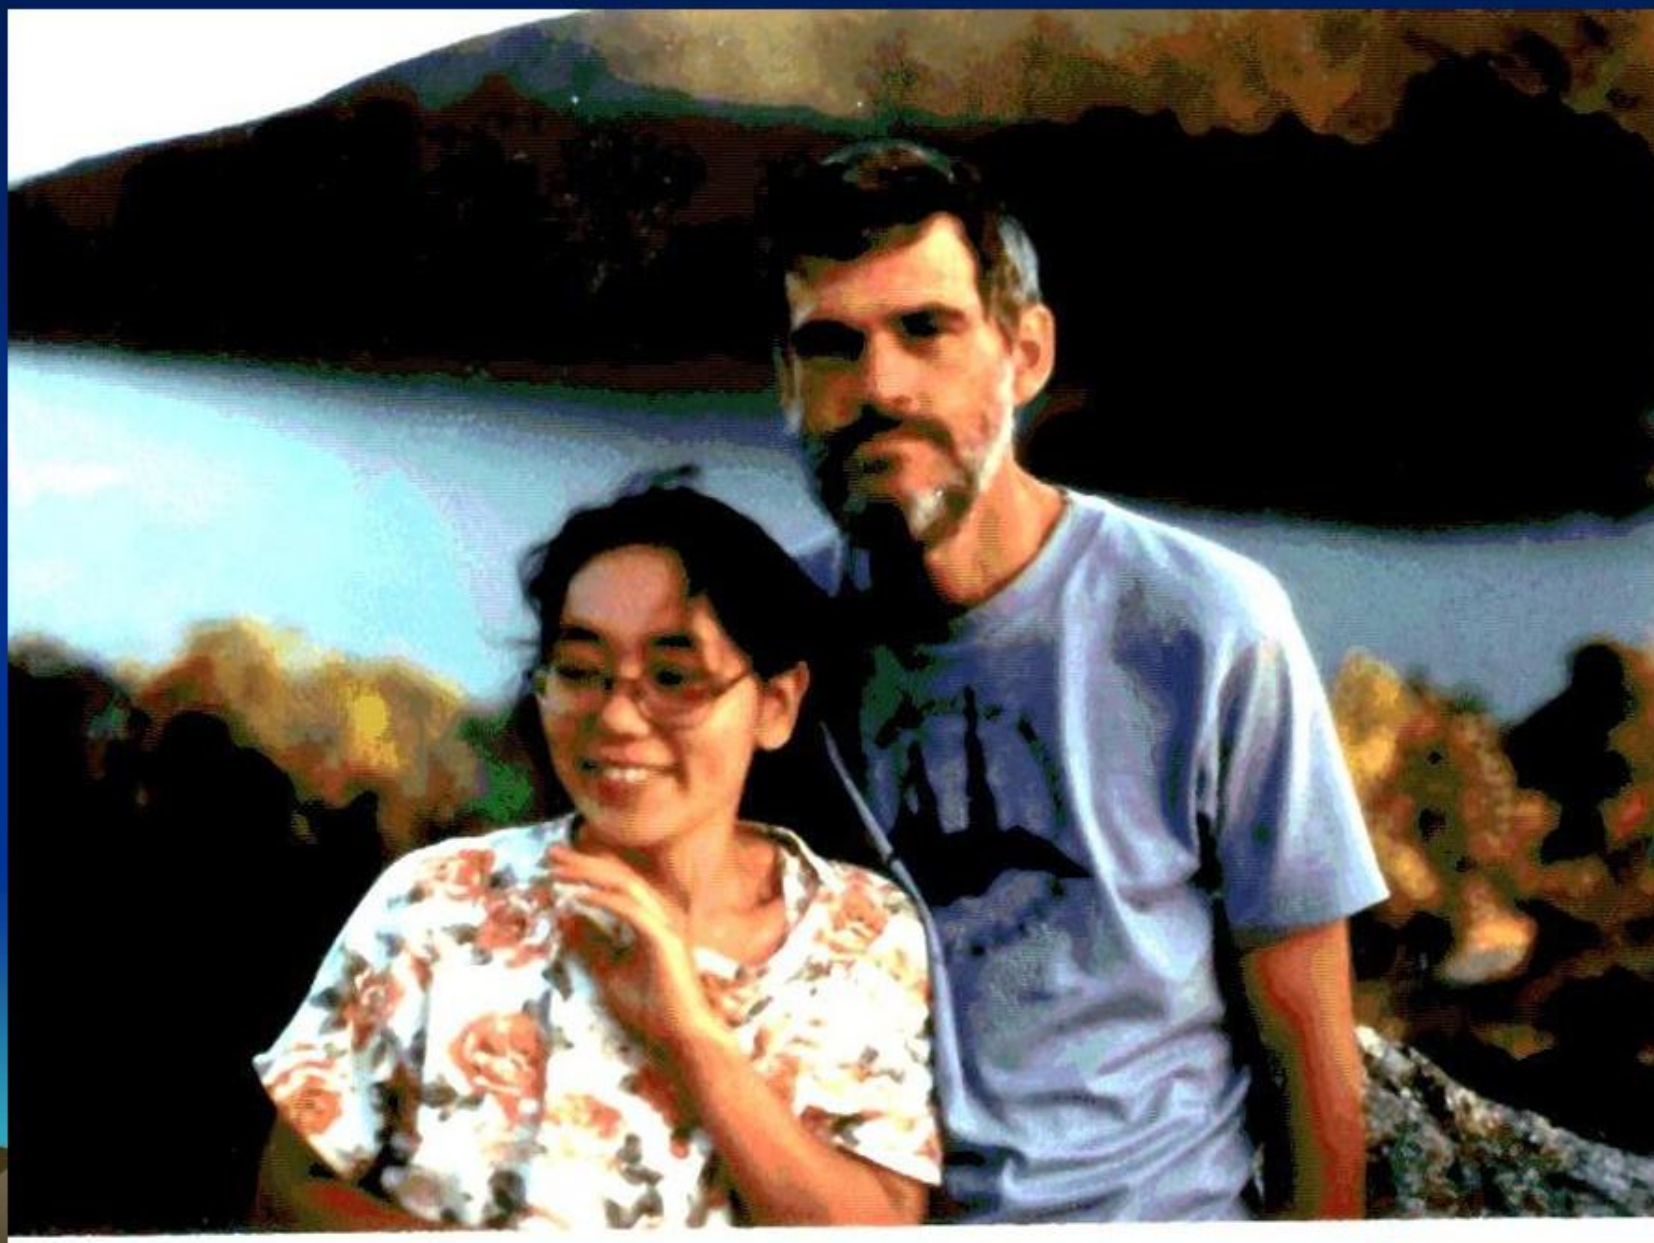

Lynn helped the Taiwan Foundation for Democracy in December 2003 when TFD invited back to Taiwan the many ministers and human rights activists who had been deported since the 1950's. Here in Ilan with Lin Yi-hsiung.

Lynn Alan Miles

June 15, 1943 – June 8, 2015

Lynn and Sachiko in about 1991, Delaware Water Gap

Lynn's family: wife Sachiko;
daughters Sally and Kelly

Lynn with Chen Ming-cheng, 2005? Green Island

Lynn had a long interest in indigenous people and anti-nuke activities. 1988 he went to Nevada camp.

1988, American Peace Test

I was living in Connecticut when, in early 1988, Julie, a young canvasser for Green Peace, came knocking on our door. Within the literature handout was a brochure by American Peace Test, an ad-hoc coalition calling for people to join in a one-week camp to be held in front of the main gate of the Nevada Test Site (NTS). I decided to go, and got in touch with APT, who in turn introduced me to people in New Jersey who were trying to put together a group who would assemble in Trenton and drive all the way across the US to the NTS in three days.

